1. After discussions with [REDACTED] of the San Francisco World Affairs Council, I propose the following topics for Mr. McMahon's speech:

STAT

- Changes in international affairs in the past decade and the implications for intelligence
- Soviet and Cuban threat in Central America
- Terrorism
- Nuclear Proliferation
- World Debt problems
- Technology Transfer

2. The Council is interested in the first topic because they are foreign affairs generalists who would like to have an overview connecting trends in international affairs to intelligence. I think PAO can provide some very good talking points on this topic. I foresee no problems in providing material at the unclassified level on any of the topics listed.

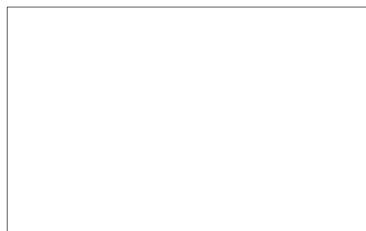

3. You can see that these ideas for talking points are virtually identical to those PAO proposed for Mr. McMahon's speech to the 544 Strategic Intelligence Wing on 8 October [REDACTED] These must be the popular issues at the moment. PAO can also provide additional material for the SAC speech such as on the problem of unauthorized disclosures as well as "local color" and anecdotes about the group.

4. A draft of the World Affairs Council remarks will be sent to you by 16 September.
